NJ Clean Communities Council Gives “Volunteer Award” to Palmyra Cove Nature Center Volunteer

PALMYRA – June 27, 2016 – George Wunder, a volunteer for the Palmyra Cove Nature Center, received the “Volunteer Award” from the New Jersey Clean Communities Council (NJCCC) for his dedication to keeping the nature center in pristine condition.

As a consistently active volunteer, Wunder has picked up approximately 200 bags of trash and 70 tires at the new half-mile trail extension, where litter and debris has accumulated over the past few decades. What makes Wunder’s dedication especially impressive is that he is picking up litter faster than the nature center can dispose of it.

“I am very proud of how far the nature center has come,” Wunder said. “We are all working extremely hard to make sure the area stays litter-free.”

“Everything George has done for the nature center is outstanding, he very much deserves this award,” NJCCC Executive Director Sandy Huber said. “There’s a reason why he’s Mr. Wonderful!”

NJCCC is a comprehensive, statewide litter-abatement program that has served New Jersey residents and visitors for more than 25 years. Learn more at njclean.org.
